PASSAGE-2

Globalisation is not a new phenomenon. It was there at the time of colonisation. In the nineteenth-century when European traders came to India, at that time too, Indian spices were exported to different countries of the world and farmers of south India were encouraged to grow these crops. Till today it is one of the important items of export from India.

During the British period, cotton belts of India attracted the British and ultimately cotton was exported to Britain as a raw material for their textile industries. The cotton textile industry in Manchester and Liverpool flourished due to the availability of good quality cotton from India. You have read about the Champaran movement which started in 1917 in Bihar. This was started because farmers of that region were forced to grow indigo on their land. After all, it was necessary for the textile industries which were located in Britain. They were unable to grow foodgrains to sustain their families.
