SECTION-A

1. Read the passage given below and make a summary in about 100 words : [5]

Poor George, only a year older than his brother, looked sixty. He had never taken more than a fortnight's holiday in the year for a quarter of a century. He was in his office every morning at nine-thirty and never left it till six. He was honest, industrious and worthy. He had a good wife, to whom he had never been unfaithful even in thought, and four daughters to whom he was the best of fathers. He made a point of saving a third of his income and his plan was to retire at fifty-five to a little house in the country where he proposed to cultivate his garden and play golf. His life was blameless. He was glad that he was growing old because Tom was growing old too.

2. Read the following extract and answer the questions that follow:

Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit;
Where the mind is led forward
by thee into ever widening thought and action-
into that heaven of freedom,
my father,
let my country awake

[Contd.....

- a) Why is reason compared with 'clear stream'? [2]
b) Where has reason lost its way? [1]
c) How does the poet describe 'heaven of freedom'? [2]

OR

How often I think of going
There, to peer through blind eyes of windows or Just listen to the frozen air,
Or in wild despair, pick an armful of Darkness to bring it here to lie
Behind my bedroom door like a brooding Dog...

- a) Pick out the expressions which suggest that the above extract is about a house. [2]
b) What do the expressions 'frozen air' and 'an armful of darkness' convey? [1]
c) Explain : 'to lie behind my door like a brooding dog...'. [2]

3. Answer in about 30 to 40 words any three of the following questions : [3×2=6]

- a) Why was the intruder a hunted cat?
(If I Were You)

5. Read the passage given below carefully. Make notes in points only, using appropriate headings and sub headings. Also use recognizable abbreviations. [4]

But the Sri Krishna Eating House did not have even so much as a coloured picture of Krishna glued to the wall. Or perhaps there had been one and it had disappeared under the layers of grime and soot with which the walls were coated. The ceiling was thick with cobwebs that trapped the soot and made a kind of furry blanket over one's head. The floor and the wooden tables were all black, too, since they all got an even share of soot from the open stoves in the back room where the lentils were cooked all day in a huge aluminium pan and the chapatis were rolled by hand and baked.

6. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

The 20th century was perhaps the deadliest in human history, devastated by innumerable conflicts, untold suffering, and unimaginable crimes. Time after time, a group or a nation inflicted extreme violence on another, often driven by irrational hatred and suspicion, or unbounded arrogance and thirst for power and resources. In response to these disasters, the leaders of the world came together at mid-century to unite the nations as never before.

A forum was created - the United Nations - where all nations could join forces to affirm the dignity and worth of every person, and to secure peace and development for all peoples.

- a) Why was the twentieth century the deadliest in human history? [2]
- b) What made the nations inflict extreme violence against one another? [2]
- c) How did the leaders of the world respond to these disasters? [2]
- d) What is the role of the United Nations Organisation? [2]

7. Report the following conversation in indirect speech. [4]

Seema : Hello Kanika, where are you going?

Seema : You can go to 'AB-FOOTWEAR' shop in 'Z' block market.

Kanika : Thank you Seema.

8. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

'My own grandmother saved me from being crushed to death by a falling tree. We were returning after visiting one of my uncles. There had been a heavy downpour the previous night and the earth had become loose and the roots had lost their grip and a tree began to fall just as we came under it. I was on this side and she was on that side, nearer the tree. She realized what was about to happen, and at once held out her hands and gripped the tree trunk and prevented its fall. She was eighty years old, mind you, and the tree was not a sapling either. It was an ancient mango tree about a hundred feet tall. She held it so firmly that passers-by who came to the rescue found it difficult to separate her from the tree and let it fall over to the other side of the road.'

- a) What was the impact of a heavy downpour? [2]
- b) What did the speaker's grandmother realise? What action did she take? [2]
- c) Pick out the details from the extract which indicate that the speaker's grandmother was a strong and a courageous lady. [2]
