A HOLISTIC APPROACH TO MANAGEMENT

Learn both the hard skills and the soft skills of leadership with our new curriculum.

Leading for performance. And wellbeing.

At the Ted Rogers School of Management, we believe the best business leaders approach management from a holistic perspective — one that prioritizes mental and physical health as well as business objectives. As such, our new MBA curriculum is driven by four themes: diversity, technology, innovation and entrepreneurship. With us, you'll learn to lead for performance and wellbeing, and you'll be guided by ethical corporate governance, socially responsible decision-making and stewardship of the environment every step of the way.

Connect with us. Connect with them.

Many of the largest companies in Canada have hired Ted Rogers MBA graduates. By joining us, you get access to our industry connections.

AN MBA DESIGNED FOR YOUR FUTURE

Lead for performance and wellbeing

The connection between wellness and personal engagement is something that the Ted Rogers MBA program understands well. While pursuing my MBA, competing for progressively senior roles and raising my three young children, there were times when I used the flexibility of the program to my advantage. In doing so, I felt supported by both the program and faculty as I achieved my professional and personal goals.

Head of Global Markets, Strategic Initiatives and Integration, RBC Capital Markets

Become a sport business leader

One day, I'd like to manage a major sports organization. My experience playing professional basketball and launching a nonprofit designed to teach financial literacy, life skills and basketball skill development to youth in marginalized communities helped me channel my energy and pursue a Ted Rogers MBA with a focus in Sport Business. Now I'm looking ahead to empowering the next generation of youth by growing my nonprofit into a global entity.

Community Initiative

Industry-relevant courses delivered in a collaborative environment made it possible for these alumni to leverage a passion for sport, switch industries while raising a family, bring an innovative product to market and prepare for a career in the Canadian marketplace. Imagine what the Ted Rogers MBA can do for you.

Be a technology innovator

The Ted Rogers MBA's up-to-date courses, faculty with real-world experience and focus on technology and innovation were very appealing compared to traditional programs. The skills I gained helped me start my company and prepared me to take on the operations and business challenges.

CEO, Komodo Openlab Inc.

Develop your career in Canada

When I decided to pursue an MBA in Canada, I looked for a program that was located in Toronto and could help me transition to the workplace. The school provided me with a safe environment to learn about Canadian professional culture as well as many opportunities to get involved and build my network. I made the most of my experience in the Ted Rogers MBA and ended up with lifelong friends, a strong professional network and a successful career in finance.
